

Be Water Wise with Pantiles

with our exclusive Garden Watering Solution

• Pump water directly to your garden • Eco-friendly • Water company approved

A new, professional system to divert grey water from the home to the garden is now available, exclusively at Pantiles Nurseries.

Grey water is waste water generated from baths, sinks and showers. The system works by collecting grey water into a tank, which is then pumped directly to the garden.

Grey water does not need treatment and is not harmful to the garden. It contains nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium which are beneficial to plants.

The system uses professional filters and pumps to ensure smooth diversion of the water straight to the plants, keeping them healthy and luscious even during the hosepipe bans.

On average, one person in the UK uses approx 150 litres of water per day, so recycling this water saves money on metered water bills. Pantiles are demonstrating the recycling of water every day and have made a commitment to living the Water Wise message at the nursery.

Whether a 'do it yourself' version is preferred, or a full survey and installation package is required, the experts at Pantiles can advise the right product to safely and ecologically reuse grey water in your garden.

"As we are all aware, hosepipe bans are almost certain to be a regular occurrence in this country. As experts in our field we want to assist our customers with ways in which they can enjoy a beautiful garden, whatever the weather may bring."

Paul Hancox,
Managing Director, Pantiles
